Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act Regulations 2022 Biennial Review Fall 2020 to Spring 2022

Introduction

The Department of Education's Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act Regulations (34 C.F.R. Part 86) require that institutions of higher education (IHEs) that receive federal funding must conduct a biennial review of its Alcohol & Other Drugs (AOD) programs and policies to determine program effectiveness and consistency of policy enforcement and to identify and implement any changes needed to either. The Department of Education recommends that IHEs conduct the biennial review in even-numbered years and focus their report on the two preceding academic years.

Statement of Alcohol and Drug Prevention Program Goals

Providence College is committed to educating our community members about the dangers associated with the overuse and misuse of alcohol and drugs, to developing campus programs and policies that help to reduce the risk associated with these behaviors, and to ensuring that we have the resources and procedures in place to address problems that may arise from the overuse or misuse of alcohol and/or drugs. Teams from Student Affairs, Academic Affairs, the Chaplain's Office, Public Safety, Human Resources, and the General Counsel's Office all work collaboratively on the development of our programs and policies.

- The initial stages of counseling and assessment assist the student in identifying and acknowledging the emotional, behavioral, interpersonal, and physiological impact of their substance use as well as determining the most appropriate treatment options. Students seeking individual counseling to address their alcohol and or drug use may be experiencing a wide range of difficulties within their lives. In addition to counseling provided by the substance use counselor, individual counseling is also available with all Personal Counseling Center staff for students who are concerned about a friend or family member’s alcohol or drug use.
- Students may initiate contact with the substance use counselor through self-referral to the Personal Counseling Center and can also be referred by a variety of campus offices such as the Office of Residence Life, Office of Community Standards, Office of Student Affairs, The Chaplain’s Office, and by any concerned parent, friend, or faculty member.

- The Personal Counseling Center provides access to student self-assessment tools and self-screening on its webpage. Screenings include the e-Chug an alcohol checkup to go and the e-Toke a marijuana checkup to go.
- The Personal Counseling Center provides outreach and prevention programming. Activities and educational workshops throughout the year that highlight substance use and harm reduction. Outreach includes but is not limited to: First Year Orientation, Health Fairs, and other student and student athlete programming. Psycho-educational materials on display at The Personal Counseling Center are shared with students and Club and Organization Leadership to distribute to their members. #### Community Standards Sanctions

- The Office of Community Standards has focused sanctions for alcohol offenses on educational objectives, including research and reflection papers/assignments, civic and community engagement opportunities, community mentoring program, alcohol intervention meetings, and counseling referrals.

Emergency Response/Alcohol Transport Protocols

- Intoxicated students are transported to a local medical facility for safety, assessment, and treatment. Students must be cleared by Emergency Room medical professionals to return to campus
- All students who experience a transport to the hospital due to alcohol or other substance must attend mandatory session(s) with the Substance Use Clinical Counselor. The American College of Emergency Physicians, Emergency Nurses Association, American College of Surgeons-Committee on Trauma, and the American Public Health Association, have identified Alcohol Screening, Brief Intervention and Referral to Treatment as a pivotal injury and illness-prevention strategy to improve the health and well-being of patients seen in the Emergency Departments due to substance use. Students must schedule their appointment with the Personal Counseling Center (PCC) by the following business day by calling 401-865-2343. When calling students MUST identify that it is to follow up from a transport to expediate the appointment with the Substance Use Counselor. If students do not schedule the appointment in a timely fashion, their ID card will be deactivated. As appropriate, the Personal Counseling Center uses evidenced based screening methods including Cage Aid, AUDIT, and DAST. For additional information related to PCC services, please see: <https://personal-counseling.providence.edu/>

- Students are required to attend the Brief Alcohol Screening and Intervention for College Students (B.A.S.I.C.S.) program. The program is an evidenced based prevention and education approach to address alcohol and drug use. The program is conducted over the course of two 50-minute interviews. The intervention prompts students to evaluate and explore concrete steps to change their drinking and substance use patterns through the lens of risk and harm reduction. The aims of the BASICS program are to reduce alcohol consumption and to promote healthier choices.
- Mandatory parent notification after alcohol transports. The Office of Residence Life & Housing recommends that you talk with your family about your alcohol transport.
- Caller Amnesty – A student who calls Public Safety for medical assistance on behalf of another person due to use or abuse of alcohol or drugs will not be subject to judicial action for the following conduct violation(s) only: use, possession, or distribution of alcoholic beverages.
- Chaplain's office provides added support to students by calling 401.865.2216
- Residence Life & Housing professional staff member support by calling 401.639.9110

AlcoholEdu for College Snapshot

Designed by prevention and compliance experts to provide your students with knowledge and skills to support healthier decisions related to alcohol.

Reach

1,031 students

at Providence College

have participated in AlcoholEdu for College since the start of the 2020-2021 academic year.

Course Impact

Students increased their alcohol-related knowledge, and their skills associated with healthier behavior.

Your students agree AlcoholEdu for College

Helped them establish a plan ahead of time to make responsible decisions about drinking 96%

Prepared them to help someone who may have alcohol poisoning 92%

Prepared them to prevent an alcohol overdose 92%

Drinking Behavior and Norms

Intent to change drinking habits can be impacted by perceptions — or misperceptions — of peers' behavior. Prevention education can influence the students' perception of norms at your school and increase their intention to avoid risky behavior in the future.

Programming Tip

Where are your students knowledgeable and where is there room to learn more? AlcoholEdu is intended to provide foundational knowledge and skills that can be built upon. Knowledge data can inform which content areas should be built out or reinforced as part of your ongoing prevention efforts.

Behavioral Intentions

After completing AlcoholEdu for College, students reported an increase in their intention to practice strategies to mitigate high-risk drinking.

Impact For High Risk Students

Among the 73% of high risk drinkers (43 students) who saw "no need to change the way they drink" before taking AlcoholEdu for College, 16% of those students (7 students) indicated their readiness to change after completing the course.

(From post-course survey)

Intention to Mitigate High Risk Drinking

Percentages represent the share of students who intend to engage in these behaviors.

Institutionalization Tip

Intention has been shown to be the most important variable in predicting behavior change (Ajzen, 1991). Actual behavior change is driven, in part, by an individual's perception of the social environment surrounding the behavior (subjective norms). As such, a campus environment that reinforces safe and healthy norms can help support individual intentions and, ultimately, changes in behavior. Where unhealthy behaviors are perceived as accepted and even encouraged, individual intentions may not be sufficient to support change.

Examination of Drinking Rates

Considering the College Effect, here is how your students (n =342) reported their drinking rates on pre- and post-course surveys (separated by four-to-six weeks).

Relative Change Survey 1 to Survey 3

Category	Your Institution	Peer Institutions
Abstainer	8%	-1%
Nondrinker	-17%	3%
Moderate Drinker	30%	20%
Heavy Episodic Drinker	51%	46%
Problematic Drinker	22%	43%

Programming Tip

How did your students' drinking behavior change in the four-to-six weeks between these surveys? Keep in mind that even small percentage changes can reflect significant differences, especially for low-frequency behaviors like problematic drinking. Look at how you compare to similar institutions and think about how you can use this information to inform student programming. For example, a relative drop in the share of abstainers could indicate a need for programming to support incoming abstaining students.

When Students Choose To Drink

The chart below shows student drinking rates over a three-week period of time. It represents the average number of drinks consumed by your students (drinkers only), compared to the average drinks consumed at peer institutions during that same three-week period.

(Follow-Up Survey, drinkers only, n = 149)

The date range above is the peak drinking period for the national aggregate and may not represent the peak for your institution.

Critical Processes Tip

What is happening on or around your peak drinking days? Does this "pattern" seem reasonable for your campus? Can this data be used to reinforce or support other data you have collected to identify celebrations or events that encourage heavy drinking?

Where Students Choose To Drink

The most common locations where your students reported consuming alcohol recently, among those who had a drink in the previous two weeks.

(Follow-Up Survey (Survey 3), drinkers only, n = 149)

Policy Tip

Certain drinking locations — including campus pubs, off-campus house parties — have been shown to be associated with significant negative outcomes (EVERFI, 2012). The same study also indicated that certain locations (on-campus dances and concerts) have a greater relationship with sexual assault than other locations.

A more recent study found students living off-campus (without parents) report significantly more frequent alcohol consumption, drinking larger quantities, more frequent heavy drinking, and a greater number of negative alcohol-related outcomes than students living on-campus (Benz et al., 2017).

How can this research and drinking location data from your school inform housing and on-campus policy at your institution?

Summary of AOD Programs Strengths and Weaknesses

The College uses a comprehensive, coordinated approach to implement alcohol and drug prevention efforts, to support students and employees struggling with alcohol and drug use, to respond to violations of the College’s alcohol and drug policies, and to assess both the campus culture as it relates to alcohol and drug use as well as the effectiveness of AOD programs.

The College has developed targeted and scaffolded resources and sanctions to address the needs of students who have been identified as needing additional support with alcohol and drug use. Alcohol and drug policies, as well as the adjudication of these policies, are strong and consistent and provide opportunity to educate and assess students at risk.

It is common knowledge that alcohol is widely used by college students. What is less commonly acknowledged are its consequences. They range from the temporary, if unseemly - a hangover or missed class - to the serious and worrisome, such as failing a test; to the truly tragic: sexual and physical assault, accident injury, and death. What is true for college students generally is also true at Providence College. Indeed, historical assessment data has consistently shown that Providence College students have an “above-average” level of alcohol consumption, both before they arrive at Providence College as students, and also once they are enrolled students on campus. Trends related to drug use have mirrored national trends – Providence College has seen an increase in the prevalence of marijuana and vaping. Although use/abuse of “harder” drugs, such as cocaine, remains more minimal, it would be ignorant to think that these substances do not exist on our campus.

While most students who abuse alcohol and drugs will be spared the worst consequences, a significant number will not. Their grades will suffer, some will transfer or be dismissed, while others will remain but bear a painful legacy. In every instance the community is affected. Bathrooms and hallways reek, property is damaged, laws are flouted, and the aspiration to something higher – academic excellence, a community of mind, heart, and soul, the God-given dignity of each – is thwarted. Yet if Providence College is not immune to the problem of substance abuse it may be uniquely positioned to address it from the perspective of its mission. Before it was the name of a city or this College, providence referred to God’s loving plan, one that orders all things to the good. This includes membership in the Providence College community. Therefore, how members of the College community act towards one another, the respect that is accorded each person, and the responsibility we assume for the welfare of the community become a measure not only of good intentions or some manifest utility but of the extent to which we have realized God's loving plan for us. It should thus be apparent that what distinguishes Providence College is not the problem, which is common to many colleges and universities, nor the specific remedies it proposes, many of which are shared with peer institutions, but its understanding of why the problem must be addressed and its commitment to doing so. Indeed, we can do no less if we are to honor the notion of providence inherent in this place and effecting our community.

While there are a number of individual offices addressing alcohol abuse and supporting students in alcohol education and prevention efforts, we have not identified a formative approach to address this grave issue. This cannot be the work of one department or division, it must be collectively organized and supported across campus.

Recommended Improvements to the AOD Programs

- Create a college-wide taskforce charged with evaluating the health & wellness culture on campus, gathering and reviewing research-based information on college student drinking and drug intervention practices, and recommending programming/policies based on review of research and data.
- Perform benchmarking exercise to understand the potential need for a prevention and wellness educator or additional staff member with AOD prevention responsibilities.
- Evaluate staffing necessary to resume usage of CHOICES and BMI as sanctions. In the event staffing is not available, re-evaluate and re-prioritize Alcohol & Drug violation sanction matrix.
- Review and as necessary revise AOD notifications contained in the Annual Security Report.

AOD Notifications to Students and Employees

The College (via Human Resources) distributes its annual written AOD notification to faculty and staff via email in January of each year. AOD notification is also incorporated into the Human Resources new hire onboard program.

The Alcohol and Drug-Free School and Workplace Policy is embedded in the Student Handbook, which is distributed to all undergraduate, graduate and school of continuing education students via email from the Director of Community Standards at the beginning of the fall and spring semesters.

AOD Policy

College personnel regularly review and revise the College's alcohol and drug policies to reflect changes in the law. The most current copy of the Alcohol and Drug-Free School and Workplace Policy can be found on the Office of the General Counsel's Policy Manual webpage in the "General Counsel & Risk Management" section.

Enforcement

The Department of Public Safety and Office of Residence Life & Housing are the two departments primarily responsible for documenting AOD policy violations on campus. The Office of Community Standards and the Office of Residence Life & Housing oversee the adjudication of AOD policy violation cases for students.

The Office of Human Resources oversees employee violations of the AOD Policy (none were reported during the review period).
